FRIULI VENEZIA GIULIA A NORTHERN ITALIAN REGION OF ENDLESS BEAUTY

The captivating Friuli Venezia Giulia region has been enriched by many cultures throughout history, giving it today's strong and unique heritage. The people are a mixture of Celts, Romans, Germans and Slavs and are defined as folks of few words. The astonishing nature that surrounds them reflects and expresses an infinite beauty, stretching from the Alps and Dolomites, to the rolling hills, rivers and woods all the way down to the golden sandy beaches on the Adriatic coast and the lagoons and small islands surrounding it.

A people of infinite resilience who have overcome wars, invasions and earthquakes, a culture who will never give in and on the contrary they continue to grow and evolve offering today's visitors a rare and immaculate beauty full of history, and ancient cultures, medieval towns, hamlets and cities offering true excellence in hospitality, exquisite cuisine, not surprisingly it is today renowned as the top producer of white wines in all of Italy.
